ASX RELEASE

Helium & Hydrogen Geochemical Survey Update

Global Oil & Gas Limited (“Global” or “the Company”) provides shareholders the following update regarding its exploration program over its 100% owned Exploration Permit 127 in the Northern Territory.

As previously announced on 24th June 2021 and 13th July 2021, a field team was planned to be mobilised and commence the on-ground studies during July 2021, however due to continued Covid lockdowns across a number of states in Australia and with subsequent quarantine requirements for incoming travellers for states, the in-field geochemical survey has been further delayed, with a rescheduled date for early September 2021, subject to any further Covid travel restrictions.

The Company is obviously disappointed for the delay to the in-field survey, however is confident that the program will be completed during this quarter, given that all contractors and equipment are currently on standby ready for commencement once travel restrictions ease.
